

Erasmus+ Preparatory Visit Programme

1. Information about the preparatory visit

Field	Acquiring teaching/learning experience in an international context, an invaluable opportunity for educators and learners alike.
Activity to be prepared:	Group mobility of staff and students:/Individual learning mobility of staff and students/
Mode:	Physical and Virtual
Start date:	24/05/2024
End date:	31/05/2024
Main objectives:	The general objective of mobility is to support the holistic development of individuals through lifelong learning. This encompasses education, training, and personal and professional development of people from diverse backgrounds and contexts, not only within our University or the Western region of the country but also from a broader perspective. By facilitating mobility, we aim to contribute to the creation of quality employment opportunities, the consolidation of social cohesion, and the stimulation of innovation. Mobility is not just a means to acquire new knowledge or skills but also a powerful instrument for strengthening European identity and active citizenship. Through interaction with different cultures, languages, and perspectives, participants in mobility programs have the opportunity to understand and appreciate the diversity and complexity of the world around them. Moreover, mobility is essential for building a European Education Area. By promoting strategic European cooperation in education and training, we can create synergies and beneficial exchanges among educational institutions across Europe. This will not only improve the quality and relevance of education but also strengthen the ties between European Union member states. Therefore, mobility must be supported and promoted as a key instrument for achieving these objectives and for building a more united, inclusive, and prosperous Europe.
